It is often hard to describe the feeling of standing on the edge of a cliff with several people behind you, each one of them placing bets to see who will be the one to push you off

For some, the idea of the quick brown foxes jumping over the lazy dogs is a similar feeling. For me, it is the complete opposite. Foxes jumping over dogs aren't threatening.

"Seventy dollars!" Cried the auctioneer. "Do I hear eighty? Eighty from you sir, does anyone want to make it ninety? Ninety! Let's go for one hundred!"

One hundred dollars to push me off a cliff Well, at least it's all for a good cause. As I had never bungee-jumped before due to my fear of heights, I was the perfect candidate to be pushed off to raise money for the charity. I closed my eyes.
