

bare skin drama queen

Red festival ornaments

Paper, plastic, and carpet bagger

Japan too often reminds us of cloth-wrapped elbows.

They won the game barely, but praised him for being just adequate.

Sometimes you feel like a nut. Sometimes you don't. It has nothing to do with chocolate. The advertising folks might have you believe that, but don't let them pull a fast one on you. If you're truly a nut, then I expect you to play by your own rules. Marzipan and sugar are no way to judge the extensiveness of your personality. For example, your quarrels with monkeys at the zoo might get you arrested. Just be yourself, like everyone else, and don't stand out.